'Capital' Wins Press Award

Receives First Place Among Papers of Same Circulation

The Sedalia Capital was awarded first place for outstanding typography among daily newspapers of under 10,000 circulation today at the winter-spring meeting of the Inland Daily Press Association.

On hand to receive the plaque was Kenneth U. Love, business manager of the Democrat-Capital. The presentation was made in the Drake Hotel in Chicago.

Airplane Death Toll Increases

13 Others Missing From Wreckage Of Big Globemaster

SEOUL (AP)—Search crews today found four more bodies in the twisted wreckage of a U.S. Air Force Globemaster that crashed and burned Friday night on a Han River sandbar. This raised the list of known dead to 9, leaving 13 others still missing and presumed dead.

The big C124 transport was en route to Japan with 150 Americans aboard—10 Air Force crewmen, 147 Army men and 2 Army civilian employees. Most were on leave. Twenty-eight of the 137 survivors accounted for are still hospitalized, two of them in serious condition.

A spokesman for a 10-man Air Force investigation team said three of the bodies just recovered were those of Army personnel and the other was a crewman. They were taken to the mortuary section of the 121st Evacuation Hospital at Ascom City for positive identification.

Army and Air Force officials said the search was continuing for the missing. Many officers said privately they had little hope any of them would be found alive.

Lt. Bennett S. Levin of Muscatine, Iowa, a survivor, indicated some of the victims may have been trapped when the upper deck of the plane collapsed onto the lower deck. He was freed from this position when someone noticed him struggling and helped him out.

Former Janitor Becomes Japan's Prime Minister

TOKYO (AP)—Nobusuke Kishi, a skillful politician who once scrubbed floors in U.S.-run Sugamo Prison, today became prime minister of Japan.

Kishi is a political conservative who is expected to make few changes in Japan's pro-Western policy. He has said Japan and the United States must always "go hand in hand," but that Japan also must do business with Red China.

The Diet (Parliament) elected Kishi overwhelmingly to the post he has long coveted, replacing Prime Minister Tanzan Ishibashi, who resigned because of ill health Saturday after only two months in office. Kishi was Ishibashi's foreign minister and had been "acting temporary prime minister" during the past month while Ishibashi was confined to his home with pneumonia and a weak heart.

Kishi retained the foreign minister's portfolio and made only one change in Ishibashi's Cabinet—the addition of Mitsujiro Ishii, a senior member of the ruling Liberal Democratic party, as minister without portfolio.

Our Bonus

We got by without the big snow that was predicted—those scattered flakes a few days ago didn't count—and now it's become pleasantly mild. Nice dividend.

Considerable cloudiness with occasional rain or drizzle tonight and Tuesday; turning colder late tonight; colder Tuesday; low tonight near 40; high Tuesday in upper 40s.

The temperature at 7 a.m. was 50; 54 at 1 p.m., and 55 at 2 p.m. Low Sunday night 50. Rainfall .28 inch.

The temperature one year ago today, high 72, low 23, with .02 inch of moisture; two years ago, high 56, low 22; and three years ago, high 65, and low 35.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks 47.9 rise 1.

Missouri's Traffic Toll Continues Drop Under Last Year

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Missouri's highway traffic fatalities continued to fall under last year's figure as eight deaths for the week ending at midnight Sunday brought the year's total to 120.

Last year at this time, the State Highway Patrol reported today, 139 highway traffic deaths had been posted.

The patrol listed 46 dead for the month so far. Last year in the same period, there were 59.

Houghton Is Named Emissary

Ike Also Names Other Ambassadors, Cabinet Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Amory Houghton, board chairman of the Corning Glassworks, to be ambassador to France.

The President also nominated David K. E. Bruce, to be ambassador to West Germany, and William J. Sebald, a career diplomat, to be ambassador to Australia.

Eisenhower also sent to the Senate the nomination of John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, to be undersecretary of health, education and welfare.

Houghton, 56-year-old Republican, was named to succeed C. Douglas Dillon as envoy to Paris. Dillon was nominated by the President last month to be a deputy undersecretary of state.

Houghton, a Republican, whose home is at Corning, N.Y., is a former president of the Corning Glassworks. He has been with that firm since 1921 when he was graduated from Harvard.

In 1941-42, he served with the Office of Production Management. Late in 1942 he was deputy chief of the War Production Board's Bureau of Industry Branches.

In 1943-44 he was chief mission officer for the Lend Lease Administration.

Bruce, as ambassador to West Germany, would succeed James B. Conant, who resigned last month.

Bruce, 50, a Democrat, served as ambassador to the European Coal and Steel Community earlier in the Eisenhower administration. At present he is a member of the President's Board of Consultants on Foreign Intelligence Activities.

During the Truman administration, Bruce served as ambassador to Australia. At present Sebald, 55, is assigned to the State Department.

Perkins, now president of the University of Delaware, was listed by the White House as a political independent. He served at one time as a secretary of the late Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan Republican.

Missouri Airman Loses Life in Rescue Try

MISAWA, Japan (AP)—A Missouri airman, Kent Cleland, Ferguson, lost his life in a futile effort to rescue a couple from their burning home.

Cleland, an airman second class, and his wife, Rita, 20, tried to awaken A.C. Stanley D. Schmidt, 32, Devils Lake, N. D., and his wife, Barbara, after their home caught fire. Cleland finally broke in a window, but an explosion followed and he died with the couple he tried to save.

The thieves also looted the Rendell home of some $3,700 in jewelry before leaving shortly after midnight.

Plenty of Bills to Work On

Legislature Starts Eighth Week With Big Job Still to Be Done

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri Legislature returned today to start its eighth week of lawmaking with a big job still ahead.

Pushing the leadership of both houses is the need for showing the public the best possible side of the legislative process — to help prove the need for a constitutional amendment that would raise legislators' salaries.

The constitutional change comes up for special election consideration April 2. It would raise each legislator's pay from the present $125 to $300 a month the year around, and give each round trip travel mileage once a week instead of just once a session.

There are plenty of important bills to work on. The Senate has passed and sent to the House the broad mental health bill, designed to modernize Missouri's treatment of the mentally ill. The Senate still is working on a complete revamping of the juvenile code, designed to save million for governmental operations in the fiscal year beginning July 1. So far, the committee has made only minor changes in allotments.

Meanwhile, public opinion seems to be building up in favor of the legislative pay increase.

Friday and Saturday, Democratic legislators appeared to be getting party support for the pay boost while they attended the annual Jackson Day celebration.

Saturday, the Republican State Committee and the State Teachers Assn. both threw their support behind the legislative pay plan.

Police Thwart Escape Attempt

An attempt to elude the police ended about 5:45 p.m. Sunday when A-3c Willie D. Littleton, a Negro of Whiteman AFB, failed when he was caught halfway through a window to a rest room at Booker's, Pettis and Moniteau. Littleton was wanted on a city warrant charging him with assault upon Ruby A. Powell, 524 North Osage.

Police officers were looking for the man at Booker's when one heard a window crash and ran to the rear in time to see Littleton sticking half way out while the other officer entered the rest room and pulled him back in.

According to the officers, Littleton climbed on top of a box which he had placed on the stool and then tried to go head first through the closed window.

He pleaded guilty in police court Monday morning and was fined $50.

Dr. O. W. Wagner Gets B'nai B'rith Award

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The B'nai B'rith award for 1956 will be presented March 17 to Dr. O. Walter Wagner, executive director of the Metropolitan Church Federation.

The award committee in selecting Dr. Wagner said he made the outstanding contribution to inter-group understanding during the past year.

Similar Bill Failed in 1951

ST. LOUIS (AP)—State Sen. Hartwell Crain (R-St. Louis County) said today he would introduce legislation for the establishment of a State Division of Fire Safety and Protection to inspect and regulate nursing homes as well as other kind of buildings.

Referring to another bill before the state Senate to strengthen authority of the State Health Division on safety regulations for nursing homes, Crain said:

"The health division is primarily interested in nursing and medical care. Fire safety is an incidental sideline to its work. I believe a separate Division of Fire Safety and Protection could do the job better.

Under his proposed bill, the fire safety division would have the power to investigate non-compliance with regulations it established for the storage of explosives, installation and maintenance of fire escapes, use of sprinkler and fire alarm systems, number of exits from buildings and such safety factors as fire doors and enclosed stairwells.

It's director's qualifications would include 10 years experience in that type of work. He would have two deputies and as many inspectors as the legislative appropriation permitted.

The director's regulations would be subject to review by a five member advisory board named by the governor and any order closing a building could be appealed to the courts.

A similar bill by Crain in 1951 failed to pass.

In referring to the Warrenton, Mo., nursing home flash fire which cost 72 lives, Crain said "one of the most important things is to have fire blocks within the buildings, so that flames can't go through the structure so rapidly."

Radio Broadcast Marks 15th 'Voice of America' Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told the Middle East nations today the menace of international communism "could smash all their hard won accomplishments over night."

In a world-wide radio broadcast marking the 15th anniversary of the Voice of America, Eisenhower noted that in the face of that menace, he has asked Congress to approve an anti-Communist program for the Mideast.

"I believe that the well-being of the people of the Middle East requires the nations of that region to build-up and strengthen their economies and institutions," the President said. "We want to see that kind of progress."

The administration's Mideast program fits right in with that objective, he said, and continued: "In order that this constructive work may go on within these countries, they must be free of the menace of international communism, which could smash all their hard won accomplishments over night."

"And so we give these countries the assurance that if such a danger develops, and if the United Nations machinery cannot deal with the danger, and a threatened country asks for our help, it can count on our help. So, behind the protective arm of this assurance, the real creative work of progress can go on, and, to speed this creative work, an extra measure of economic assistance for the area is included in my proposals."

The administration program before Congress would provide for use of American troops in the Mideast, if necessary, and authorize 200 million dollars annually in financial aid.

In his prepared text, the President made no specific mention of the current crisis precipitated by Israel's refusal to pull its forces out of territory claimed by Egypt.

But he appeared to have that situation in mind in saying that "a principal source of order in the world... is the United Nations." Israel has failed to comply with repeated U.N. demands that it withdraw its forces from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

The President said that just as the United States supports "the vigorous independence of today's many separate nations, so too we support just as vigorously the practice of settling the inevitable disputes between these nations under the principles and procedures of the United Nations."

"The history of the United States is that of a struggle for the right of self-determination and human dignity," he said. "Our story begins with a ringing declaration which has inspired millions of free people everywhere that 'all men... are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'"

"But this same declaration also states that, along with this self-determination, we must show 'a decent respect to the opinions of mankind.'"

Drizzle, Fog Prevail Over Most of State

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Light rain, drizzle and fog prevailed over most of Missouri today and the forecast is for considerable cloudiness through Tuesday.

Although temperatures were mild, the forecast indicates there will be a turn to colder tonight in the north and over most of the state Tuesday. Highs Tuesday will be from the 30s in the north to the 40s south.

The long range forecast is for temperatures averaging three to five degrees above normal. No great amount of precipitation is expected.

Wage Law Extension Requested

Recommendation Of Minimum Wage Goes to Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration recommended today that about 2½ million employees, mainly store workers, be included under the $1-an-hour federal minimum wage law. Secretary of Labor Mitchell presented the administration recommendations to a Senate Labor subcommittee.

Mitchell proposed in prepared testimony that the law be broadened to include employers doing at least one million dollars worth of business a year and employing a minimum of 100 employees.

He did not propose any increase in the minimum, nor did he suggest that the additional workers to be covered should come under the law's provision for premium overtime pay.

The law now covers about 24 million workers. An additional 20 million workers not included are outside the present scope of the interstate commerce clause of the law.

He said some two million workers in large chain store organizations and "giant single-unit department stores and other large retail establishments" would be the main groups covered by his plan.

The administration proposal also would cover 65,000 employees of city transit systems, 15,000 telephone employees, 90,000 seamen, 50,000 employees of the nation's largest hotel systems, 30,000 employees of large taxicab companies and some 200,000 employees in about 100 construction enterprises.

Molly-Coddling No Answer

Juvenile crime has become a problem of grim dimensions in this country and no less an authority than J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI speaks out to this effect: "Recent happenings in juvenile crime shatter the illusion that soft-hearted molly-coddling is the answer to this problem."

In the past four years the population of 10-17 year olds has risen 10 per cent, but arrests of individuals in that age bracket have increased at twice that rate. Hoover says further: "Publicizing the names as well as crimes for public scrutiny, release of past records to appropriate law enforcement officials and finger-printing for future identification are all necessary approaches in the war on the flagrant violator, regardless of age."

Yet some people continue to press for secrecy in all matters involving juvenile offenders of the law without regard to any specifics — actually there is talk in the Missouri Legislature of raising the age covering juvenile law breakers so as to spread the cloak of secrecy.

Maybe the soft-hearted approach is all right, maybe not. But we can't see an, merit in extending the age protection beyond what it is now—17 years.

In this connection, an episode in Chicago, commented on by the Columbus (O) Dispatch, underscores the absurdity of a distinction in treatment based solely on age:

"A youth was picked up by police for questioning in connection with the horrifying murder of the Grimes sisters after their mother had told police he and members of his "gang" had repeatedly annoyed the girls last summer in a public park. He gave his age as 18.

"His name was released to the press, he was questioned by detectives and locked up to await a lie detector test.

"At this point, the youth announced that he was only 16 and protested that he should not be held in prison like an adult criminal.

"The police checked his birth certificate, found he was only 16 as he asserted. They also found that he was a paroled inmate of a state correctional institution and had a family (juvenile) court record going back six years: petty larceny in 1951; burglary, 1952; assault with a dangerous weapon, 1954; auto theft, 1955. When arrested he was held with the members of his gang, on charges of beating up two persons.

"Despite this significant record, questioning of the youth was discontinued, the lie detector test was called off and he was turned over to the juvenile authorities, the customary curtain of protective anonymity descending on him from that point in the proceedings.

"This story seems to speak for itself. How important a factor is this young criminal's precise age in this instance?

"Social theorists to the contrary, we think that like "the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la" it has "nothing to do with this case."

Particularly since the case is the investigation of a brutal murder that has shocked the country.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Why Ike Flew Back to Washington

WASHINGTON—Inside fact about the President's hurried return from Thomasville to face the Israeli crisis was that Assistant President Sherman Adams warned him revolt was brewing in Congress.

Adams called the President to say that a resolution might sail through both houses of Congress condemning sanctions against Israel unless Ike came back to take personal charge of the explosive situation. Such a resolution not only would tie the administration's hands before the United Nations but might endanger the entire legislative program in Congress.

At first, the President wanted the 27 congressional leaders to fly to Thomasville to see him. But when Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas replied, "The American people are under the impression that Washington is still the capital of the United States," he flew back to Washington.

Danger from Russia

The President opened the conference by reading a prepared statement reviewing the Israeli situation to date. He coughed occasionally, apologized for laryngitis and said: "Foster had better talk."

John Foster Dulles then outlined the situation pretty much as the press had reported it.

"I've tried, but I am frank to admit that it is difficult to find words to adequately deal with the situation wherein a little nation of the free world, like Israel, whom we all want to protect, is at the same time guilty of aggression into the territory of another," admitted Dulles.

"There is nothing the United States can do to stop sanctions against Israel," Dulles concluded. The only course, he thought, was for Israel to withdraw from the Gaza strip and Aqaba Gulf. Unless Israel withdraws quickly, Dulles warned, the situation will worsen.

"A flicker could start and develop into a flame. If Israel doesn't withdraw, guerrilla warfare might break out and you can't tell where it would stop." He added that even the Soviet Union might be brought into the fighting.

After Dulles had talked for about 20 minutes, a senator broke in: "Isn't it true that what you have said is a polite way of saying the administration will support United Nations action of sanctions against Israel?"

"The United States will not seek sanctions," Dulles replied, "but it is difficult to see how sanctions can be avoided."

Dulles on Spot

"Mr. Secretary," broke in Sen. Johnson of Texas, "I don't think you were very responsive to that question." Then Lyndon repeated the question.

"Our policy," retorted Dulles, "is to support the United Nations."

"That still doesn't answer the question," protested Johnson. Again he repeated it.

"If the majority of the United Nations believe

Guest Editorial—

NEW YORK TIMES: Auto Inspection. New York is finally joining the ranks of states that require safety inspection of the automobiles on their roads. Fourteen states and the District of Columbia have had compulsory inspection, some of them for many years. Thirteen other states have some less exacting form of check.

Inspection here is long overdue. A law requiring inspection was passed in 1954 after too many delays and still was postponed. The annual inspection now required is minimal; being limited to brakes, lights, steering and wheel alignment and then only on vehicles four or more years old.

None the less it is a start. We hope that the program eliminates the most defective vehicles. We hope too that Governor Harriman and the legislature soon will agree that the law should be restored to its original scope. Then all motor vehicles would be subject to checks, and horns, tires, windshield wipers, glass and other equipment would be inspected.

Two 'Tailors' Try to Patch Trousers

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and France were as close as a pair of pants until they split over the French attack on Egypt last November. The pants have badly needed mending ever since.

So when President Eisenhower and French Premier Guy Mollet met tomorrow — the first such meeting since the invasion of Egypt — it will be like a couple of tailors sewing on a patch.

And the result, like any good patch, will probably be satisfactory but unsensational.

Mollet was premier when the attack was made. It was a combined French-British assault, arranged by Mollet with the then British Prime Minister Eden. It was also one of the clumsiest fumbles in French-British history.

The White House was equally mad at both men for the attack which infuriated the Arab world just when the United States was extremely anxious to keep the Arabs friendly to the West and away from Russia.

Eisenhower and the United Nations put pressure on the British and French to stop the shooting. Both did and left Egypt. But the independent French-British action caused the first postwar bustup among the three big allies.

Mollet and Eden very quickly wanted to come here to see Eisenhower to get things straightened out. That kind of reconciliation soon wouldn't have looked good to the Arabs. Eisenhower gave the two prime ministers a cold shoulder.

In the backwash of that military fiasco, the split between the United States and Britain, and Eisenhower's aloofness, Eden ran into trouble at home and finally resigned, pleading illness.

Not so Mollet, a dry, professional, colorless French politician. Reports from Paris say the French, even though dismayed by the willingness of their government to back out of Egypt so fast, admired Mollet for his daring in fighting at all.

But the rift between this country and its two allies couldn't be permitted to go on indefinitely. And Eisenhower, after talking things over with Mollet, will visit with Eden's successor, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

What sometimes gets lost sight of in concern over the American-British-French split was why the British and French, who had worked hand-in-glove with this country, had attacked Egypt on their own without telling the United States.

Eden and Mollet were sore at the way Secretary of State Dulles had handled Egyptian President, Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal. The British and French didn't want to let Nasser get away with it.

Dulles offered some plans for dealing with Nasser. None of them worked. They used up time. And they left Nasser in undisturbed possession of the canal. Eden and Mollet didn't want any more of Dulles' delays. So they struck.

But it seemed clear from the beginning that any quarrel of this kind between the United States and its allies could be only temporary. They need each other too much in standing off communism to go their separate ways.

Neither the British nor the French have been in sympathy with Eisenhower and Dulles on their handling of Israel, which also attacked Egypt.

Eisenhower and Dulles have been talking vaguely about imposing sanctions on the Israelis for refusing to leave Egyptian territory until they get guarantees — from the United States or the United Nations — that, once they pull back, Nasser won't be allowed to attack them, as he did in the past.

Mollet and Eisenhower will have to mull over that difference. But, aside from that, there are no basic quarrels between this country and its allies. All three are still partners.

One result of the French-British decision to go it alone in invading Egypt may be to make Dulles and Eisenhower a little more careful to listen to the British and French when they think as in the case of Suez, their vital interests are at stake.

By the same token they'll probably think twice about getting into a war the next time without telling his country or getting is support.

Missouri livestock dealers would have to be licensed and under $5000 bond under legislation recently introduced in the state house of representatives.

Rep. Ralph Wigfield (Livingston county democrat), and nine other lawmakers introduced the proposal. It would not apply to dealers who buy and sell livestock for their own use. All others would have to purchase a $25 a year license and give bond.

Wigfield said the bill was aimed at clearing up bad check passing in the livestock trading industry. He said passing of bad checks in livestock dealing costs farmers and sale barns thousands of dollars a year. He said the Chillicothe sale barn last $8,000 in bad checks last year.

Wigfield said unscrupulous dealers now can buy cattle with a bad check and sell the cattle or take them out of the state before the check is passed. He said if the dealers were licensed and bonded, the bad check practice would be halted.

A proposal to require covers on trucks loaded with loose materials met defeat recently in the house of representatives.

The bill was sponsored as a safety measure by Rep. Leslie R. Groves, (R-Macon county). He said broken windshields and accidents often result from material flying off loaded trucks on the highways.

Opposition came from Rep. A. B. Vanlandingham (D - Boone county) who objected because the bill would require farmers hauling fertilizer, seed or feed to cover their truck loads even for a short distance haul. Another objection

Stress Shelter Program

Major Hope To Minimize Mass Deaths By Fallout

By Joseph A. Dear
WASHINGTON — It looks like the international air raid shelter race will soon be underway.

Val Peterson, Administrator of Civil Defense, says a shelter construction program "is under intensive study at the highest levels."

He's for the program. And he wants to put industry underground, too. "We've just got to use our native rocks," he said.

Representative Chet Holifield (D-Cal.) nodded in agreement. On the avenue outside the hearing room of Holifield's Military Operations subcommittee a truck roared to life. The regular noonday practice alert was barely audible.

Peterson looked up from the green felt of the table when the noise level dropped. "There is no defense, really," he said. The ICBM (international ballistic missile) may breach the early radar warning line. Peace is the only answer. If we don't get true peace, the international arms race will bankrupt the world.

Holifield nodded again. But survival, not cost, is the first consideration, he said. Even if an adequate shelter program will cost about $25 billion.

These shelters, incidentally, would provide protection against radioactive fallout for 100 million Americans. And fallout, not bomb blast, is the big danger now.

In fact, Peterson admitted, fallout has changed his concepts of civil defense. Evacuation of cities won't do. Radio-active fallout from distant bomb blasts would shower silent death upon fleeing citizens in country fields.

Anyhow, the cities couldn't be evacuated fast enough. Congressman Holifield put some figures in the record at that point. Studies by the Bureau of Public Roads show it would cost $27 billion to build a road system that would enable Americans in 147 target areas to get 40 miles away from the probable blast center in two and one half hours.

Peterson said the prospect of the ICBM eliminates the possibility of tactical evacuation. "I'd rather use the money for shelters," he said.

Neither Holifield nor Peterson had an estimate of what it might cost to move essential industry underground. Without doubt, though the cost would be staggering.

Holifield's subcommittee last year held lengthy hearings on the civil defense problem. Expert testimony—Dr. Edward Teller, father of the H-bomb, was one witness—was that only shelters could save the civilian population in the event of attack by Russia. If H-bombs are dumped on the United States, the fallout pattern would cover the nation. Every living thing above ground would be endangered.

This year, Holifield has introduced a bill to strengthen the Civil Defense Administration. It would elevate the agency to an executive department whose secretary would enjoy cabinet status.

The California Congressman, a member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, helped overcome the inertia that delayed construction of the H-bomb. He's glad he did, for events proved the Russians were working on that project too. But Holifield, because he played an important part in getting the H-bomb built, is doubly sensitive to the plight of our vulnerable population.

He is critical of strategic thinking which accepts the wholesale slaughter of American civilians as inevitable. He hopes a practical program of protection can be developed, and he is convinced the effort to find one must be made. He is critical of President Eisenhower for not asserting effective leadership in this field.

Until recently, the President has stressed the importance of local level responsibility for civil defense. The image Ike has evoked is that of the World War II warden with a bucket of sand. But the fallout danger seems to be changing that. And a shelter building program may be launched, next year, if not this.

Odds and Ends By News Staff

The young man stood in the crowd at the auction sale and listened to the chant of the auctioneer. He thought there might be something he wanted to buy. Then the auctioneer put up a fine television set. The young man was interested — not that he wanted a television set, because he already had one, but his work was at a television station.

The auctioneer's voice rang out: "Fifty dollars — fifty — fifty — anybody bid sixty dollars?"

There was a silence over the crowd. The young man knew how good that television was, he just couldn't let that television go for just $50. He would bid so the other person bidding would have to pay a little more. "Sixty dollars," he yelled.

"Sixty dollars," said the auctioneer. The television goes to the bidder for $60."

The young man who needed almost anything more than he did a television was left speechless — and about dollar-less, too. The money he had which he planned to spend for something he did need was now tied up in a television set. So he went home with the television and the look of amazement on the face of his young wife turned to amusement when he told her what had happened. She thought it was funny. He didn't.

What was he going to do with another television set? But the next time he goes to an auction sale he doesn't care if they put up a television set for a dime he is not even going to raise it a penny. He is going to keep still on television sets or anything else he isn't interested in buying.—H. L.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
What are "little white lies"? Generally they are half-truths used to avoid trouble. The "trouble" may be potentially for the teller of the "little white lies" or it may be potentially for the one who hears.

"Worry birds" imagine the worst about any situation. They interpret the bold truth in a catastrophic sense. They imagine that any delay is caused by some devastation. They dream up the worst interpretation of anything. These people come to ask for half-truth because they cannot be calm with simple fact.

We cannot justify untruth in any religious sense, but neither can we justify stimulating the imagination of people who know no peace of mind in themselves or in their relationships with others. Jesus told parables rather than giving cold statements to those who wished to trap Him with mere words.

Terraces Are Important in Saving Moisture As Well As A Method of Controlling Erosion of Soil in Farm Fields

Experiment Shows Terraced Field Can Produce Much Greater Yields

Although terraces are most often thought of as a means of controlling erosion, they are also important in saving moisture, says R. P. Beasley, University of Missouri agricultural engineer.

At the Christy Experimental Farm in Andrew County last year, a terraced field had a corn yield twice as large as that produced on an unterraced field.

Corn on an unterraced acreage made 22 bushels an acre while the yield on a terraced acreage was 48 bushels. The two corn rows in each terrace channel made 90 bushels, Beasley attributes the 26-bushel difference in yield to moisture conserved by the terraces.

According to the engineer, the two 10-acre fields were side by side on the Christy farm. Both were handled the same in all respects.

During early July last year, approximately two inches of rain fell in a relatively short time at the Christy farm. Terraces held most of this moisture and allowed it to soak into the soil—a large percent ran off the unterraced area.

Not only did terraces increase the yield but there was a corresponding improvement in grain quality. And, Beasley says the 1956 yield increase was more than enough to pay terracing costs.

According to Beasley, there are other advantages to terraces. He lists the following.

One—terracing makes land reclamation possible. Fifty million acres in the United States have been stripped of topsoil or are so riddled with gullies as to be virtually useless. If this land is to be returned to production erosion must first be controlled.

First step in reclamation is to fill gullies and destroy the drainage pattern that has developed. The second step is to terrace the land to control erosion and prevent re-establishment of the previous drainage pattern. Costs are high but, in hundreds of cases, returns have been enough to more than justify the investment.

Two—terraces preserve good land. Fertile land subject to erosion needs to be terraced to prevent loss of topsoil. Reclamation of eroded fields can wait without serious additional loss.

Three—terraces furnish continuous protection. Many crops furnish erosion protection when fully established. However, there are times during seedbed preparation, early stages of growth, and after harvest when protection is limited and terraces are needed.

In the mid-west, most hard rains occur between May 1 and September 30 with the majority coming in June and September. Spring-planted, inter-tilled crops and fall-seeded grain crops are therefore in danger of large soil loss unless other protection is provided.

Four—terraces protect soil improvement investments. Considerable expense is often involved in soil improvement needed to maintain high production and terraces protect these investments.

Five—terraces provide more liberty in selecting farm enterprises. Corn and soybean are the mid-west's high-income crops as are cotton and tobacco in southern states. When attempts are made to grow these crops on rolling land, serious soil losses occur and it's difficult to maintain production economically.

These high-income crops can be grown and soil productivity maintained on terraced acreages. If terraces aren't used, crops grown should be limited to those that give more protection. These include small grain, pasture, and hay crops that aren't as economically productive as corn and soybeans.

Six—terraces reduce drainage needs and improves productivity of bottom land. In many cases, water from hill land discharges onto flat land below. This causes overflow and deposition problems and increases drainage needs on these fields.

If drainage ditches are built to remove water from the bottom land, they must be made large enough to carry excess water. In many cases, they will be clogged with silt washed in from eroding hillsides.

Seven—terraces may solve a combined drainage and erosion control problem. A combination erosion and drainage problem exists in many areas where topsoil is underlaid with a relatively impermeable subsoil and slopes are long and flat, Beasley notes. These

33rd Soils, Crops Conference

The recent Soils and Crops Conference marks another very successful one that has gone into history. The committee did a fine job with the program and the chairman, Lee Dow, did an exceptional fine job in presiding and in making appropriate comments throughout the day. Also old-timers and young alike enjoyed another opportunity to visit with the speaker, Bill Murphy, who was a former assistant county agent in Pettis County.

The policy being followed by the conference of adding a new man to the bottom of the committee list each year and dropping the chairman from the list seems to be working very well. By the time a man reaches the top he has had four to five years experience and does a very fine job as chairman, just as Lee Dow did this year and others have in the past.

The members of this year's committee were Lee Dow, chairman, John Sneed, Jr., vice-chairman, Carl Raines, secretary, Harold Whittall, registrar, and Robert Brauer, committeeman. Two new men were added to the committee this year, as one added two or three years ago and renamed each year has failed to participate. The new men are Leroy Ryan, of southwest of Sedalia, and E. L. Bohon, Jr., of southeast of town.

Each year a number of folks are drafted to help with registration and do a fine job. Some I noticed working besides the committee were Albert Anderson, Chester Wissman, Paul Stephens, and two soils dry out slowly, delay seed bed preparation and planting, cause machinery miring, drown out crops, and often delay harvest.

The runoff rate will be high and, even though slopes are relatively flat, serious erosion will result. Drainage type terraces, where the channel is somewhat deeper and the ridge less pronounced than in the ordinary terrace, provide drainage and prevent concentration of runoff on the lower part of the slope. Soil from the channels not needed to build the ridge is spread further down the slope or moved to fill low areas.

Eight—terraces contribute to water conservation. They slow the runoff rate. This delay gives time for increased water infiltration and on deep, open soil, an appreciable saving is possible.

Water saved by terraces encourage crop growth thus reducing water and wind erosion and increasing crop yields.

According to Beasley, new techniques in terrace construction are being developed to reduce sharp terrace curves, eliminate many point rows, reduce ponding in the terrace channel, and thus make terraces easier to farm.

Attendance Down

The attendance of slightly over 200 was the lowest since the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce started providing the noon lunches. It was also the first year that the delegate system has not been used.

The dropping of the delegate system saves some time of the committee. Sometimes in the past, it has taken two-thirds of the planning time to select delegates. That left little time to plan a program. The original plan was to name delegates in each school district. However in recent years about 12 have been named in each township. There have also been delegates at large, such as county judges and representatives of agricultural agencies.

We have just completed a tabulation of last Saturday's attendance by townships. The drop in attendance seems to be from nearby townships as LaMonte with ten, Cedar, Longwood, and Dresden with eight less from each, Hughesville nine and Lake Creek seven. Blackwater was only short two and Green Ridge and Heath's Creek gained one each. We would appreciate comments from readers as to whether the delegate list should be revised or how else to stimulate attendance.

Murphy Covers Field

Bill Murphy, the afternoon speaker, did a good job covering the field crops field. One of the major interests was the combine sorghums. He said they wouldn't replace corn on good corn land and that they were hard to store. He expected folks to be trying the new hybrid varieties but urged them to put their major acreage this year in recommended open pollinated varieties.

One thing still found in the hybrids is lack of uniformity. By that I mean a number of tall and off-type stalks in the field that bother the combine. We saw them in the fields at Columbia last September and Mr. Boltz told me that was true in his trials in Benton County last year. Information is available at the office and has appeared in this paper showing yield trials at Columbia and Pierce City with the open pollinated varieties and some of the new hybrids. Also shown is blooming date, height of heads and percent of lodging.

Fertilizer recommendations on the grain sorghums are similar to corn.

Plan For Hay and Pasture

Murphy urged the folks to plan for their pasture and hay. He urged the seeding of winter wheat for pasture up to the first of March and recommended the soft wheat varieties as Vigo and Clark on making the most growth. He also urged the use of plenty of fertilizer on that wheat and on permanent grasses and winter grain crops already planted, to increase spring pasture. Nitrogen on them now, he said, will

Flight, Spray Topics For Discussion at MU

Flight and chemical spray problems and discussions are scheduled for the two-day University of Missouri Aerial Applicators Short Course March 12 and 13, says Stirling Kyd, University extension entomologist in charge of program arrangements.

Discussions during the first day will be limited to flying subjects while the second day's program will deal with new chemical sprays, 1957 spray recommendations, and the safe handling of insecticides.

mean pasture there ten days earlier than otherwise.

In answer to a question, Murphy said records showed that wheat could be pastured to April 10 without hurting yields at all. If much nitrogen is used it might need further pasturing.

He said small grain for hay should be cut in the bloom but that for silage it was better cut in the dough stage. He recommended larger use of sudan grass and mentioned that some folks were cutting early for silage and then using it for pasture. With that system he suggested cutting the silage when the heads were just emerging from the boot.

Until more is known about the aphids on alfalfa, folks are urged to use more lespedeza and red clover for hay. Regarding the aphids, Bill urged spraying before they become serious in the fields.

Soft Wheat Available

Apparently there is some shift back to soft wheat. In the "Bootheel" area of Missouri, which still grows soft wheat, they were paying three to four cents over loan prices at market time.

Two new soft wheats are becoming available. Knox is several days earlier than Pawnee, stands better and in four-year trials at Columbia yielded by more than 15 percent. Vermilion is not yet available in quantity but yields a half bushel over Knox, is also earlier than Pawnee and has very stiff straw.

Both stay in the head very well, are between vigo and Pawnee in test weight and are both susceptible to loose smut. This smut is difficult to treat but kills heads early. Because of that, it appears that nutrients are carried to other heads and seldom causes much reduction in yield.

Will Test More Corn Hybrids

With the financial help of commercial corn companies, about 50 of the more common commercial hybrid corn varieties will be tested in University trials this year. However, the University recommends only open hybrids of which they know the pedigree.

Particularly recommended are Mo. 843, Kansas 1639, and U.S. 523 W. A new one, Mo. 880, will be further tested in trials this year. It beat 843 by 2½ bushels last year and is reported as the best standing variety observed to date.

Early Hatched Chicks' Eggs Sell Better

Eggs from early hatched chicks will usually average a higher price per dozen in the laying year. The early hatched chicks will be laying large eggs when egg prices are good during the fall months. County Agent Merle Vaughan says in a study of 455 farm flock records over a four year period made by Extension Poultrymen, eggs from February hatched pullets brought an average price of 45 cents a dozen. The eggs from April hatched pullets averaged only 43 cents a dozen during the laying year.

A check of egg prices paid to producers for graded eggs in St. Louis revealed spread between medium and large grade A eggs to be from 4 to 7 cents a dozen during July, August and early September. The spread of 7 cents a dozen was in early September. By October the spread was 14 cents. This continued through well into November. On December 1st the spread between medium and large eggs was back to about 4 cents a dozen.

When the large volume of medium and small size eggs hits the market in late September, October and early November large eggs are in short supply. February hatched pullets will be 6 months of age in August and will be filling the egg basket with increasing regularity. They will be producing a high percent of large eggs by late September and early October. The April hatched pullets will be 6 months old in October and will be producing lots of medium sized eggs when everybody else has the eggs for sale.

Such a Dilemma!

North Carolina Has Unbeaten String But No NCAA Berth

The Associated Press
North Carolina's 22-game unbeaten streak is the envy of the college basketball world. But six big-time college coaches have something that Tar Heel Coach Frank McGuire would give a lot to own—a berth in the post-season NCAA University Division Tournament.

To make the NCAA event, the Tar Heels must take the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament March 7-9. It's a sure bet McGuire would swap a defeat in either of UNC's two remaining regular season games for that prize.

McGuire has said that he feared going into the tourney unbeaten, because the pressure would be too great.

Such a dilemma! Coaches at Connecticut, Canisius, Kentucky, Miami of Ohio, Southern Methodist and Idaho State can rest easy until the NCAA tourney. The same goes for Manhattan, Seattle, Memphis State, Dayton, Cincinnati and St. Bonaventure, who have accepted 6 of the 12 spots in the other major post-season circus, the National Invitational Tournament.

Connecticut wrapped up the Yankee Conference spot last week. Canisius accepted one of the seven "at-large" bids Saturday and the other four NCAA starters locked up slots that night. Twelve other conference races and the bids that go with them are still in the pot.

Southern Methodist made the glamor group by whipping Rice 75-72 to pick up a third consecutive Southwest Conference title; Idaho State did it with a 47-36 triumph over Western Colorado State for the Rocky Mountain crown; and Miami came in with a 47-40 over Toledo to grab Mid-American laurels.

Kentucky, 79-60 winner over Alabama, can still be tied for the Southeastern Conference top spot by either Vanderbilt or Auburn. But Auburn is on probation and Vandy has lost twice to the Wildcats, leaving the prize a certainty for Adolph Rupp's five.

West Virginia, with the Southern Conference championship already won, still must take the league tourney to get the NCAA nod.

Here's a look at some other league races:

Big Ten—Indiana boosted its first-place record to 9-2 by dumping Wisconsin 85-74, while Michigan State stayed close, taking its eighth straight game over two early losses, 70-65 over Minnesota. Indiana is at Michigan State Saturday.

Big Seven—If Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain is to be an NCAA showpiece, Kansas (8-1) must ward off the challenge of Kansas State (7-2). Both won over the weekend; Kansas 87-60 against Nebraska and K-State 86-77 over Iowa State. Kansas is at K-State March 6.

Missouri Valley—St. Louis (9-2) turned back Bradley (8-2) 73-66 to take over first place, but the race Indians, winners of nine straight, could wrap it up by beating both Princeton and Yale this week.

Skyline—Brigham Young (9-3) could have clinched but lost to Montana 71-63 and now Montana, Denver and Utah are only a game out.

Pacific Coast—with UCLA on probation, its 11-1 record is as good as California's in the league only, and if the Golden Bears keep playing as they did in beating Washington 72-62 they'll be in the NCAA.

Mid-Atlantic—This sprawling league has no official standings, but Lafayette with 12 straight victories is a top choice.

Japan Joins Ranks
TOKYO (AP)—Japan today joined the ranks of nations with golf-playing chief executives.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, elected today, plays on vacation trips but complains he seldom finds time for the game while in Tokyo.

In recent interviews he laughingly labeled his score "a top secret." It reportedly ranges in the 90s.

Ed Kalafat of the Minneapolis Lakers basketball team weighs 245 pounds.

Bobby Shantz' Hurts Caused A's to Shift

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—If little Bobby Shantz hadn't suffered a fractured pitching arm in 1952 and a pulled shoulder muscle the following year, the Athletics franchise would not have been shifted from Philadelphia to Kansas City in the winter of 1954.

The 5-6 southpaw, who became a New York Yankee last week along with pitcher Art Ditmar in a trade involving 13 players, made this surprising disclosure today. His authority is none other than Roy Mack, former Athletics president, without whose consent the club could not have been transferred.

"Roy Mack called me to say goodbye after the club was transferred," related Shantz. "If you had been able to pitch, we'd still be in Philadelphia," he told me. Mr. Mack figured my injuries cost the club more than half a million in attendance and about that much in gate receipts. That would have been enough to keep the club going and there'd be no need to sell."

Shantz won 24 games and was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player before breaking his wrist in September 1952. The club attracted more than 627,000 spectators at home that year.

On days when he was scheduled to pitch, attendance at Connie Mack Stadium ranged between 20,000 and 30,000. On other days, attendance averaged 8,000. With Bobby sidelined by injuries, the club drew 362,000 in 1953 and 304,000 in '54.

On Nov. 8, 1954, the club was sold to Arnold Johnson, who transferred the franchise to Kansas City.

The injuries cost Shantz some money too, it was suggested to the now balding 31-year-old native of Pottstown, Pa.

"I'll say it did," he said. "Between $30,000 and $40,000. I'd say. After winning only five games in '53, my salary was cut $5,000. It was cut again the following year. The endorsements fell off too."

Shantz said he has worked out all winter in a Philadelphia gymnasium, along with Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons, Jack Meyer and Stan Lopata of the Philadelphia Phillies. He insists his arm is as sound as ever.

"I know I can help the Yankees. All I need is a chance to pitch," he said.

OTIS, Kan. (AP)—Otis High School's undefeated basketball team boasted that it would run up 100 points against Bison, a traditional rival. Bison players heard of the boast. When the game started the Bisons did a lot of stalling. Final score: Otis 7, Bison 2.

Ronnie Delaney Has One More Horizon; Race Against Clock

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that he has conquered his main rivals, both individually and collectively, there is only one more horizon ahead for Irishman Ronnie Delaney. That is time.

Since Ronnie, the Olympic 1,500-meter champion, has been competing, he steadfastly has refused to race the clock. He has run only fast enough to win.

But after winning the national AAU mile in 4:07 Saturday night, he gave a hint that he might be getting tired of slow races.

"I wanted to see a faster time," he said. "I had hoped for a 2:02 half."

The half-mile time was 2:04.1, but he still outlegged Laszlo Tabari and Fred Dwyer with no particular effort. His margin was eight yards over Tabari and 10 over Dwyer.

Dwyer has what he thinks is the system to beat Ronnie, but so far he has been unable to put it into effect. He wants to run the three-quarters in 3:03, then let Delaney try to beat him home in the fourth quarter. It might work, but it would force Ronnie into breaking Gunnar Nielsen's world indoor mark of 4:03.6.

Delayed Payment
COVINGTON, Okla. (AP)—It took 37 years, but Frank J. Renna finally received his World War I bonus of more than $1,000.

Renna's check had been held up by legal difficulties since 1920.

The Covington barber was in the Navy for three years before being discharged in April, 1920. The bonus payment was held up because of seven hours "overleave" which ended in his receiving an "ordinary discharge."

Renna started fighting in 1923 to have the action changed and in 1950 a Naval board of inquiry gave Renna an honorable discharge.

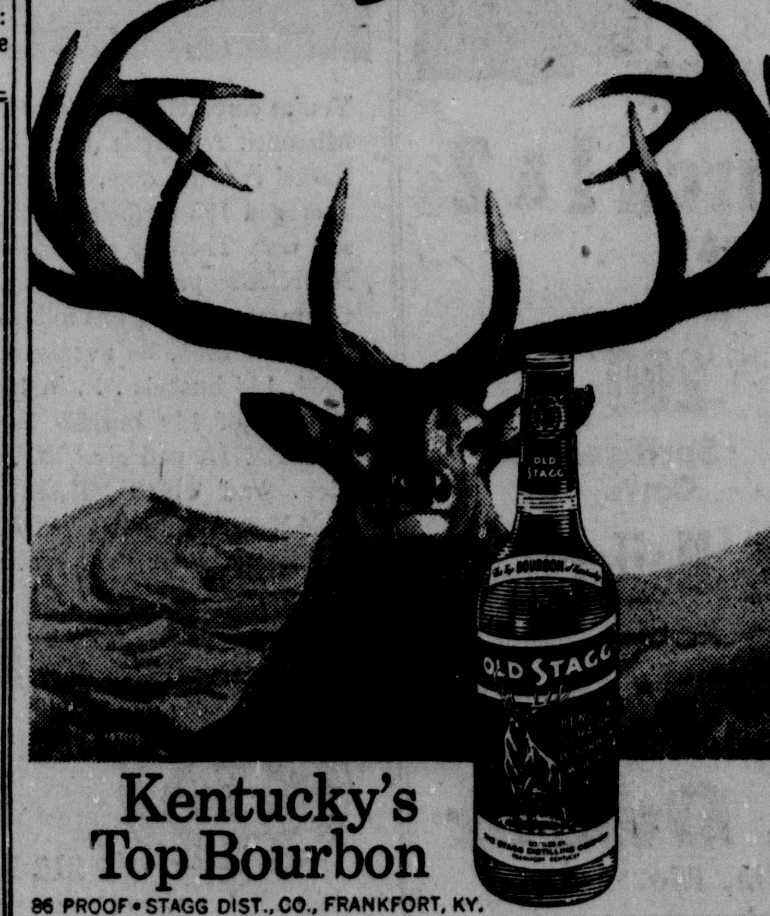

It has taken seven years more for the bonus to clear.

Successive shutouts tossed by Don Larsen of the Yankees, Clem Labine of the Dodgers and John Kucks of the Yankees in the 1956 World Series marked the first time that happened since 1919.

Mouse Is Blamed For Asphyxiation

TOKYO (AP)—A mouse was blamed today for a gas leak which asphyxiated two women employees of a noodle shop and put two delivery boys in the hospital in critical condition. Police said the mouse gnawed a hole in a rubber gas hose and fumes filled the upper floors where the four employees were sleeping.

In Big 7 Basketball Race

Is the Pressure Greater On Jayhawks or Wildcats?

The ASSOCIATED PRESS
Is the pressure greater on the Kansas Jayhawks or the Kansas State Wildcats in the closing stages of the Big Seven basketball race?

That's the big question as Kansas leads the field with an 8-1 record. Kansas State is one game behind at 7-2. Both teams have three games remaining and one of them is a Jayhawk-Wildcat rematch at Manhattan March 6.

Kansas State had a narrow escape at Manhattan Saturday, coming from behind to beat Iowa State 86-77 with a red hot, 18-point overtime burst.

The Wildcats play Missouri (4-6) at Columbia tonight and then must meet Iowa State (5-5) at Ames Saturday. It was at Ames that Kansas suffered its only league loss thus far.

Kansas, which toyed with Nebraska 87-60 at Lawrence Saturday, still has a tough pair with Colorado (4-5) in addition to the K-State game. The Jayhawks play at Colorado Saturday and wind up their schedule with the Buffaloes at Lawrence March 9.

In other league games this week Nebraska (3-6) and Oklahoma (1-7) meet at Norman tonight and Missouri and Oklahoma at Norman Saturday.

Playing before a capacity crowd of about 17,000, Kansas beat Nebraska in typical Wilt Chamberlain fashion as the 7-foot sophomore scored 30 points and hogged the backboards. It was the 17th victory against 2 losses for the No. 2 team in the Associated Press poll and a nice rebounding act from the stunning loss to Oklahoma A&M on Thursday.

Kansas State struck for 16 points in the first four minutes of overtime to knock out Iowa State, which had a partisan K-State crowd of 12,500 on edge throughout regulation play. Center Jack Warrensburg's Mules, who lead Kirksville by one game, will meet the Bulldogs in the big M.I.A.A. game at Kirksville Wednesday night. Warrensburg has an 8-1 league record and is assured of nothing worse than a tie for the title. Kirksville, 7-2, can share it by beating the Mules.

In the first game between the two at Warrensburg Feb. 2 the Mules won 72-64. Kirksville has been more consistent over the season, however, winning 14 and losing 6 while Warrensburg has won 10 and lost 10.

William Jewell, which has already won the M.C.A.U. state, will complete its regular season with Central at Liberty tonight. On Wednesday the Cardinals will begin their best of three playoffs with Rockhurst for the Missouri berth in the N.A.I.A. tournament. The first game will be at Liberty, the second on Saturday at Kansas City.

One other league game remains on the M.C.A.U. slate, Missouri Valley and Culver-Stockton at Canton. In non-league windups Westmar will be at Tarkio Tuesday, Culver-Stockton at Carthage, Ill., Wednesday, and Graceland at Tarkio Friday.

Newcomer Holds 2-Stroke Lead In Houston Open

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gene Bone, a newcomer who just four days ago was unknown even to many stars on the winter golf tour, held a 2-stroke lead today as he made his final bid for the $7,500 top money in the $36,000 Houston Open.

The friendly 25-year-old from Louisville used good putting to overcome a few bad shots yesterday and boost his lead with a 54-hole 69-67-70-206.

This was 10 under par for the 7,200-yard, par-72 Memorial Park course and enabled him to beat off a surge by Bob Harris, former national collegiate champion from Winnetka, Ill.

Harris, seven strokes back after 36 holes, was red hot with a red putter, fashioning a 7-under third round for a 209 that moved him a notch ahead of Jimmy Demaret, a Houston native and gallery favorite.

Bone began play yesterday one stroke ahead of Doug Ford, former PGA champion from Mahopac, N.Y. Ford slipped to a 73 to tie at 210 with Arnold Palmer, the first round leader from Latrobe, Pa.

After Saturday's washout, only a light rain fell late in yesterday's play but there was a downpour last night. More rain was expected today.

Bone said he had no special strategy in mind.

"I'm just going to keep shooting, come what may," he said. "I'm really lucky."

Gibson Gets Another Chance to Nail Down Cage Scoring Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mississippi's Joe Gibson setting the pace by a fraction of a point in the major college basketball scoring race, gets one more chance to nail down the title.

Gibson, who leads with an average of 30.25 on 605 points in 20 games, winds up the season against Mississippi State Thursday night. He took over the lead Saturday by scoring 46 points against Louisiana State.

Meantime, runner-up Grady Wallace of South Carolina and fourth place Elgin Baylor of Seattle get a chance to close in on the lead. Wallace, who has a 30.13 average, plays against The Citadel Tuesday and Baylor, at 29.14, meets Portland.

Parr scored 33 points and Bob Booser 26 for the winners. Iowa State's great little Gary Thompson hit 29 to keep the Cyclones in the running. Missouri had one of its rare good nights at Columbia in beating Colorado 72-62 on the strength of a strong finish. Lionel Smith did the most good for the Tigers with 21 points.

Big Seven little bits: Chamberlain had a scoring output of 32 and 30 points the past week to bring his total for 19 games to 550 points. He also continued as the leader in league games only with 210 points for a 23.3 average. Thompson remains second at 20.9 although Parr closed in with a 20.2 average.

Half of Teams In New Division Are Selected

NEW YORK (AP)—Half of the 32-team field for the new college division of the NCAA basketball championships was completed today with four conference champions added to the 12 other teams which previously qualified.

Added over the weekend to the small college field, which will start play March 2, were Mt. St. Mary's of Maryland (17-4), Jackson College of Mississippi (22-2), Florida A&M and Nevada. Mt. St. Mary's represents the Mason-Dixon Conference, Jackson the Midwestern Athletic Assn., Nevada the Far Western Conference and Florida A&M the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Assn.

The only other conference champion qualified to date is Wheaton College (20-1), which posted 12 straight victories in the Illinois Conference.

The 11 at-large teams selected by regional committees are Amherst, Beloit, Centenary, Chapman (Calif), Cortland, East Tennessee State, Kentucky Wesleyan, Philander Smith, Regis, Rider and Wartburg (Iowa).

Nine at large selections and seven conference champs will round out the tourney field. The tournament's first and second round games will be played on home court sites to be determined by draw. First round play is scheduled for March 2-5 with second round games to be played March 9. The quarterfinals, semifinals are scheduled for Evansville, Ind. March 13-15.

Associate Justice Stanley Reed Retires After Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Associate Justice Stanley F. Reed, 72, reads his last Supreme Court opinions today, then steps into retirement after more than 19 years' service on the high bench.

The Kentucky Democrat, an appointee of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said it was no longer wise for him to endure the "strain of unremitting exertion" required of a jurist.

President Eisenhower has not yet nominated a successor.

The court has been in recess since Jan. 28.

Reed was expected to read majority opinions he has written in a number of pending appeals. His votes also have been cast on court orders ready for announcement.

Reed's retirement leaves an eight-judge court to hear arguments on a long list of new cases scheduled this week and next.

Some are major ones, causing lawyers to speculate on the possibility of some 4-4 decisions on important issues. Such split decisions affirm the judgments of lower courts.

Shortly after Reed's departure, the eight justices will hear three hours of debate on whether Congress has power under the Constitution to authorize court-martial trials of civilians who accompany the armed forces abroad.

Last June the court, in a 5-3 decision, said Congress has the power. It so ruled in the cases of two women who killed their husbands overseas, were court-martialed and sentenced to life imprisonment. Counsel for the women won reconsideration of the decision.

Other appeals to be heard this week and next raise these questions:

1. May the House Committee on Un-American Activities compel witnesses to identify persons who in the past might have been Communists?
2. Is New Hampshire's Subversive Activities Control Act invalid under the federal Constitution?
3. Did the FBI violate the constitutional rights of two men and a woman who got prison sentences for sheltering a fugitive Communist party leader in a California mountain hideaway?

New Couple, 35 and 79, Are Happy

OTISFIELD GORE, Maine (AP) — It was back to work today for Albert Pierce, 35-year-old woodcutter, and his great grandmother, 79, the former Mrs. Ida F. Stover.

The couple was married — not without a few hitches — in a simple ceremony yesterday at the bride's home in this tiny Maine village. But there was no honeymoon trip. Pierce had wood to cut, his new wife housework to do.

The minister was five minutes late and Pierce insisted on another wait for his boss. After 10 more minutes, the ceremony went ahead without Wyman Lord, Harrison lumberman, who arrived halfway through the service.

Then, when the Rev. John F. Philpot of Norway had almost finished the ritual, best man Walter Hubbard, who also is the bride's son-in-law, handed the Methodist clergyman a second ring.

"Oh, a double ring. . . I didn't realize," said Mr. Philpot, who then started all over again with the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Pierce, a plump, bespectacled widow 10 years, wore a gray dress, green sweater and a yellow corsage. She was attended by Mrs. Hubbard. Four of the bride's 10 grandchildren witnessed the ceremony.

Pierce, who was divorced two years ago, met his new wife last year while boarding with the Hubbards at Hebron.

The bride, posing for news photographers sitting on Pierce's lap, said he proposed to her last Christmas.

"I was lonesome and I knew he was," she added. "I thought we would be good company so I said yes."

Pierce said: "We are in love and we both were lonely. It is an ideal marriage."

Teenagers Picket 'Baby Doll' Showing

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — A group of placard-carrying teenagers picketed a theater here at the opening of the controversial movie "Baby Doll."

Some carried signs reading "Save a Boy (and girls too)" and "Hollywood's contribution to Gainesville." Gainesville is the site of the Texas State School for Girls.

Theater officials said the film played to an above normal crowd despite the picketing and the large number of letters protesting the film.

After 731 Marriages, Gets First Honeymoon

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — After 731 marriages, actress Donna Jo Gribble, 21, finally got her first honeymoon.

She and actor Steve Miller, also 21, were married at the First Presbyterian Church here yesterday. They were given a week off from their parts in the long-run melodrama, "The Drunkard," where Miss Gribble is the heroine. She gets married once per performance — and not to Miller, either. In "The Drunkard" he plays her half-brother.

India Has Its Second General Election; Nehru Party Favored

NEW DELHI (AP)—Voting in India's second general election moved into full stride today with Indians going to the polls in nearly 600 election districts in 10 states.

It is the heaviest day of the election period, which goes on until March 14. Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party is favored to continue in power. At stake are 495 seats in the lower house of Parliament plus control of 13 state assemblies.

Voting began in two states with 19 election districts yesterday and after today the pace tapers to about 400 districts a day. The nation has 2,354 districts, many of which allow voting on more than one day.

In all, about 100 million persons are expected to vote. Because many are illiterate, separate boxes were set up for each party marked with the party symbol. The voter dropped the unmarked ballot into the box of his choice.

Formosa's Quake Toll, 11 Dead and 33 Hurt

TAIPEI (AP) — Formosa today counted 11 dead and 33 injured in its worst earthquake in a decade. There are casualties among 3,000 Americans stationed on this main Nationalist Chinese island.

The quake, centering 45 miles off the island's east coast, struck before dawn Sunday. Greatest damage on this island of 10 million population was at Hualien, east coast port city of 50,000. High mountains across the center of Formosa reduced the shocks before they reached Taipei and other west coast centers, where most of the American military and embassy personnel live with their families.

The shocks also were felt in the Pescadores, heavily garrisoned Nationalist island chain between Formosa and the Communist Mainland.

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regulate normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

Village Gets Its New Bell After Strife

NIORT, France (AP) — After many months of bitter internal strife, the nearby village of St. Maxire today had a new bell.

But the mayor, a stubborn man, refused to witness its christening ceremony.

It all started when the old bell developed a crack and the priest asked the mayor to pay for repairs.

The mayor refused. Loyal parishioners chipped in. Soon there was enough to buy a new bell, named by the parishioners Francois Dominique. But the priest announced it would not ring for official ceremonies.

So the mayor, accompanied by the town clerk and eight members of the Town Council, stormed the church and took the bell.

Angry members of the flock rallied behind the priest. Some of them wanted justice. To many others the toll of the angelus three times a day was the sole indication of time.

The mayor finally surrendered Francois Dominique. The christening ceremony was held without the mayor. Francois Dominique peacefully tolled the angelus, but many parishioners feared that peace was not here to stay in St. Maxire.

Storm Hits West Coast, Kills Three

A bristling Pacific storm, with winds up to 150 miles an hour, barged into the West Coast over the weekend and killed three persons, flooded part of an Oregon city and grounded transoceanic air traffic.

Townfolk and National Guardsmen battled the river with sandbags to protect the rest of Baker, a community of 9,500.

In southeastern Oregon the Malheur River was expected to crest today after flooding parts of Vale and surrounding areas. Sheriff John Elvering said the community was "virtually isolated" with 18 inches of water over U. S. Highway 20-28 between Vale and Ontario. Schools were closed.

In northern California, a 600-foot stretch of U. S. Highway 101—the main north-south artery—was blocked by a mudslide from 8 to 10 feet deep. More than 500 motorists were stranded at Willits. A terrific flood felled a 125-foot fir tree near Grants Pass, Ore., and killed two foresters. A woman killed in Monterey, Calif., by a falling pine tree.

The torrential rains posed a minor flood threat to the Russian River resort area about 55 miles north of San Francisco.

As far south as Los Angeles, a quick downpour flooded lowland parts of the city for a brief period Saturday.

A Pan American Airways liner rode the wings of the storm from Honolulu to San Francisco in the commercial record-breaking time of 6 hours 4 minutes.

Unknown Aviator Rouses Family; They Flee Fire

LOCUST GROVE, Ga. (AP) — An unknown aviator twice flew his plane at near chimney height over a burning farm house and was credited with saving the lives of four persons.

Elbert and Betty Seabolt and their 3-month-old son Joseph were asleep in the bedroom of their four-room house. Betty's father, W. C. Arendale, was asleep in another room.

They heard the plane roar over the house about 10:20 Friday night. When the plane went over a second time Elbert Seabolt got up to see if anything was wrong with the plane.

When he looked out the window he saw the glow of a fire and realized the roof of his house was ablaze.

The family got out safely and managed to save a few things but the house burned to the ground. The Seabolts tried to identify the pilot of the plane without success.

Last night Elbert and Betty, who are both 24, made public this letter:

"Dear aviator: We want to tell you that your thoughtfulness and daring saved the lives of our whole family Friday night. Little Joe, if he could talk, would add his thanks, even though he doesn't realize what happened. Our loss was tragedy enough for a young people just getting started, but we never would have even had a chance if you hadn't flown low and waked us up. Thank the Lord there are people like you."

Women's Democratic Club Outlines Plans

The Pettis County Women's Democratic Club met in regular session Tuesday evening, Feb. 19, at 114½ East Fifth, with a large crowd in attendance and with the president, Mrs. E. L. Birdsong, presiding.

Projects for the coming year were discussed and it was decided to have a white elephant sale at the next regular meeting.

After the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed with the following hostesses: Mrs. E. J. Thontas, Mrs. Edgar Neighbors, Mrs. Clyde Neighbors and Mrs. L. A. Pharris, who served refreshments.

They said Bond insisted on trying to free the car by spinning the wheels. A passenger train came along and did the job for him.

Bond stepped out without a scratch. He was taken to jail and booked on a drunk driving charge.

Says at Least Two Prisoners Are US Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ousted official of the U.S. Information Agency says at least 2 of the 10 Americans held prisoner by the Red Chinese are agents of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Charles Edmundson said yesterday that is why the State Department has been trying to bar U.S. newsmen from going to Communist China.

He said the department fears the newsmen might learn some of the imprisoned Americans are intelligence agents and that this might weaken U.S. efforts to get the prisoners freed.

State Department and CIA spokesmen declined comment.

Edmundson was fired last month from his USIA post in Korea after he had criticized President Eisenhower's proposals for blocking Communist expansion in the Middle East.

Appearing on a television interview, Edmundson said he, the CIA and the Red Chinese all know that some of the 10 Americans are agents of the CIA and "perhaps other intelligence agencies."

He named only "Fecteau and Downey." Two of the Americans still in Red Chinese hands are John T. Downey of New Britain, Conn., and Richard H. Fecteau of Lynn, Mass. At the time of their capture in 1952, they had been listed as civilian employees of the U.S. Army who were aboard an Air Force plane when it was shot down.

Six other American prisoners have been identified as clergymen and the remaining two as businessmen.

Edmundson said the CIA errs, when some of its employees are caught, in describing them as businessmen and civilians. He said this arouses emotions in the United States, adding that such emotions can "cause tensions and create a national atmosphere . . . that can lead a nation to war."

The State Department has taken the position that no Americans, including newsmen, should visit Red China while U.S. citizens are held prisoner there. This government has accused the Red Chinese of using the imprisoned Americans as pawns in a blackmail scheme.

Singer Frowns on Current Craze for Calypso Music

From California up to Maine Calypso songs are on the brain. They sweep the nation, there's no doubt. And this is what it's all about.

By HARRY BELAFONTE

As Told To Dick Kleiner

NEW YORK — (NEA) — I want no part of the Calypso craze. I'm just afraid that the sudden emergence of Calypso as a popular fad may prove to be a death knell in disguise.

The association of West Indian music with fadists and a cultish hysteria movement may build it up to the heights of a crazed following—and that can only result in eventual snuffing of this music form.

I don't want to be involved in that. I don't want to be rock-and-roll's killer nor do I want to be a "Calypso King." I'm basically a folk singer and actor who happens to do some authentic Calypso material.

The interest in Calypso being developed by the opportunists will cheapen the true Calypso form and degenerate the level of Calypso entertainment. Some so-called "Calypso acts" feature a type of music that is more in the cha-cha category.

What is true Calypso?

Actually it is a living newspaper, with verses telling of events, past and present, that are unique to the Islands. There are many work songs and ballads that are erroneously called Calypsos. In my last album for RCA Victor, called "Calypso," most of the songs were work songs and ballads.

Some people label all songs that originate in Trinidad, Barbados, Martinique, Jamaica and that region as Calypsos. Most people think of my current hit records, "Jamaica Farewell" and "Day-O" (which other groups have recorded as the "Banana Boat Song"), as Calypsos. They're not—"Farewell" is a West Indian folk ballad and the other is a song of the dock workers.

True Calypso is a healthy music; it is informative, has a free-swinging style and comments critically upon current events. I'm afraid that Calypso will become a caricature of itself because of the influence being exerted upon it by the fast money men.

Calypso reached a moderate level of success in the U. S. during the '30s, and was kept partially alive by a small group of enthusiasts.

HARRY BELAFONTE: Caricature by the fast money men.

Massachusetts Woman Is 105 Years Old

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Miss Margaret Watson is 105 years old today. She prepared for her birthday by going to services, as usual, at Grace Episcopal Church. She also read the morning newspaper and then greeted well-wishers at a special open house at the Homestead rest home. Dr. John C. Ballard, Miss Watson's physician, said she is in good health, considering her age.

Now, however, I'm afraid that the real beauty and meaning of the music will be debased by the imitators and the "bandwagon" element.

The charge has been made that most Calypso is pornographic. This is not true. When people object to the dirty lyrics of some Calypsos, I think what they really find fault with is the debasement of the original material, or dirt for the sake of dirt.

I will never sing the phony, cliché Calypso material that is already flooding the market. I won't do it, just as I won't become a banner-bearer for those who are looking to make a killing from the current spiraling craze for this special brand of West Indian music.

Says President Has Picked Men For War Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retiring Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming said today President Eisenhower already has selected the men who would head emergency agencies in the event of war. He also said that in an Operation Alert, planned for later this year, "we will undoubtedly, for the first time, test out the wartime organization."

ness plans" in a copyrighted interview published in the weekly magazine U. S. News & World Report.

Flemming has resigned as chief of the Office of Defense Mobilization to return to his post as president of Ohio Wesleyan University. Eisenhower has nominated Gordon Gray, an assistant secretary of defense, to succeed Flemming.

Saying that Eisenhower has approved ODM plans for an organization to cope with wartime problems, Flemming asked:

"The President also has selected the men who would head up the wartime agencies. They know who they are.

"There has been no public announcement of their selection. They simply serve as consultants to ODM or to other agencies."

Flemming said these men already "are engaged in selecting the second and third echelons of personnel for their organizations."

like scrimmage. With the six men putting their shoulders to the vault door, Stoll yelled "charge" and after ten minutes of bucking, the door swung open. Settling of the building was believed to have jammed the door.
